Activity Report of 2022-23

For “Students’ Welfare & Social Service Advisory Committee” (SWSSAC)

Post-COVID-19 Measures for Maintaining Teaching-Learning Processes

Introduction: In response to the challenges posed by the COVID-19 pandemic and the subsequent shift towards a new normal in educational practices, the Students’ Welfare & Social Service Advisory Committee (SWSSAC) has formulated a comprehensive set of measures aimed at maintaining the integrity and effectiveness of the teaching-learning process. This report outlines the key initiatives undertaken by the committee to address the evolving needs of students and faculty members in the post-pandemic era.

1. Evolution of Learning and Teaching Models: SWSSAC has recognized the necessity of adopting flexible teaching methodologies to accommodate the diverse learning preferences and circumstances of students and faculty members. As such, the committee has endorsed a hybrid teaching approach, which allows teachers and departments to integrate both online and offline methods as deemed appropriate. Furthermore, the continuation of WhatsApp groups for students enrolled in both Honours and general courses has been affirmed, reflecting the committee's commitment to facilitating communication and collaboration among students and faculty members.

2. Professional Development of Teachers: To ensure the quality and relevance of instruction in the new normal, SWSSAC has emphasized the importance of ongoing professional development for faculty members. The college administration will organize regular workshops, seminars, and training sessions tailored to equip teachers with the essential skills and tools necessary to navigate the evolving landscape of teaching and learning effectively. By investing in the professional growth of teachers, the committee aims to enhance the overall educational experience for students.

3. Health and Safety Measures: The health and safety of students remain a top priority for SWSSAC, and the committee has implemented robust measures to mitigate the risk of COVID-19 transmission on campus. Departments have been tasked with monitoring students' adherence to established health and safety protocols, with an emphasis on promoting social distancing, mask-wearing, and hygiene practices. Additionally, departments are encouraged to propose additional measures as needed to address specific health concerns and prevent potential outbreaks, thereby fostering a safe and conducive learning environment for all.

4. Enhancement of Student Support Services: Recognizing the importance of holistic support for student success, SWSSAC has committed to enhancing student support services across various departments. Departments are encouraged to identify areas for improvement and implement strategies to provide comprehensive support to students, encompassing academic, emotional, and social dimensions. By prioritizing the enhancement of student support services, the committee aims to empower students to overcome challenges and achieve their full potential in the academic journey.

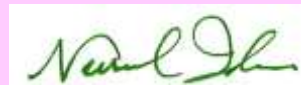

Conclusion: In conclusion, the initiatives undertaken by SWSSAC underscore the college's commitment to ensuring continuity and excellence in the teaching-learning process amidst the challenges posed by the COVID-19 pandemic. By embracing innovative teaching methodologies, investing in professional development, prioritizing health and safety, and enhancing student support services, the committee endeavors to create an inclusive and empowering learning environment that fosters the holistic growth and development of students and faculty members alike.

This report serves as a testament to the proactive measures undertaken by SWSSAC to navigate the complexities of the post-pandemic landscape and reaffirms the college's dedication to academic excellence and student welfare.
